

Triplet Loss CORRECTION

Note that when Andrew said

"Another way for the neural network to give a trivial output is if the encoding for every image was identical to the encoding to every other image, in which case, you again get zero minus zero",

He means that you get "N minus N", which is zero.